REFLECTION

WEEK #3

In Week 3 I learned how CSS can be used to enhance the look and layout of a website. At first, I found it difficult to decide the right CSS properties and how they affected different elements. I figured this out by trying different styles and looking at the examples in the lesson. And as I went along, I got more comfortable changing colors, fonts, spacing and layouts. One thing I did improve was the design of my webpage to be cleaner and more consistent. This activity taught me that design is important in making a website attractive and easy to use.
