REFLECTION

WEEK #1

Week 1 - In this week, I learnt the basics of HTML and how to create a simple webpage using different tags and elements. At first I found it difficult to remember what each of the tags were for and where they should be correctly placed. I worked this out by looking at the examples in the lab guide and practicing making my own pages. I kept working and got more familiar with the structure of an HTML document. The only thing I did was to organize my content better, using headings, paragraphs and I also added the footer. This activity helped me understand the basics of web design and prepared me for the next lessons.
